ABOUT OUR ORGANIZATION

Meet the Founder

Shellreter Owens-Eugene went from being a teen parent, high school dropout, and domestic violence victim, to a college graduate, loving wife and mother, and thriving entrepreneur. Most importantly, she became the Founder and CEO of Girls In Charge, Inc., (GIC) a non-profit organization dedicated to empowering at risk young women to take charge of their lives and not allow negative personal circumstances to determine their future.

With her empowering testimony and commitment to community service, she established GIC as a means to encourage young women to never give up and to pursue their dreams and aspirations.

Teaching Our Girls To Take Charge!

The Girls In Charge (GIC) mentoring program is 501(c) 3 non-profit organization dedicated to helping young women develop a deeper understanding of who they are destined to be. We offer a variety of preventative programs and enrichment activities designed to build self-esteem, character, and leadership for young women between the ages of 10-19. GIC connect young women together to support each other and develop overall strong, positive relationships.

We believe that now, more than ever, a mentoring program, such as ours, which emphasizes parental involvement, is a necessity for the proper development of young women. The mentoring program is the foundation of our organization and our strategy to bring about positive changes to at-risk youth and teenagers, in disadvantaged communities. We look forward to exploring the possibilities with you. Thank you for considering our request. Please contact Girls In Charge at your earliest convenience, should you need additional information. WHAT YOUR SUPPORT CAN DO

MAKE A DIFFERENCE

..... and empower a girl.

Platinum Sponsor: $56,800 can support the entire program of 50 at risk girls and teenage parents to participate in the Girls in Charge (GIC) Program for one year and three at risk young women can receive a scholarship to college.

GIC believes that it truly takes a community to raise a successful, healthy child. The mentoring program is the foundation of our organization and our strategy to bring about positive changes to at-risk young women, in disadvantaged communities.

Diamond Sponsor: $34,000 can support the mentoring of 30 at risk young women and teenage parents to participate in the GIC Program for one year.

GIC believes that teen parents (and their child/ren) deserve a chance to take charge of their lives. We strive to produce Dedicated, Responsible, Educated, Aspiring and Motivated (DREAM) mothers.

Gold Sponsor: $11,300 can support the mentoring of 10 at risk young women and teenage parents to participate in the GIC Program.

GIC will teach the young women how to resist negative peer pressure, help them to think critically with regards to negative media messages and address personal health issues by educating them about substance abuse.

General Sponsor: $1,000 can support one at risk young woman or teenage parent to participate in the GIC Program for one year and put her on a path to a higher education.

The GIC mentoring program is dedicated to helping young women develop a deeper understanding of who they are destined to be. GIC Mentors influence young women in such a way that it builds them up, edifies and encourages them to duplicate this attitude in family, friends, and others.

Services Provided

Youth Programs:

We provide young women with social opportunities, educational programs, referral services, advocacy and individual support through mentoring services. We assist them to identify their needs, goals and aspirations.

Our services include:

Mentoring, Tutoring, Computer Training, Workshops, Scholarship opportunities; etc.

Parenting & Family Support:

We work with parents to help them contribute positively to their children's development. We offer community education programs on parenting issues, emotional and practical support to families, and help parents to maintain positive parent/child relationships.

Volunteers:

We provide opportunities for volunteers to connect with their community and share their knowledge and skills with others.
